Documents Required to Start a Business in Alberta

To start a business in Alberta, you need a few essential documents depending on your business type. The most important items include valid identification (such as a passport), a NUANS name search report if you choose a unique business name, and your Articles of Incorporation for company setup. You must also provide a registered office address in Alberta and details of all directors and shareholders. Some businesses may require extra municipal licenses or industry-specific permits before operating. These documents help ensure a smooth and legal start to your business in Alberta.
